Wisconsin Paper Manufacturer
Makes Drastic Talk.

COWARDLY AND UNPATRIOTIC

Strong Adjectives Used in Hearing on Canadian Reciprocity Measure Before Finance Committee of Senate—Grangers Oppose.

Washington, May 11.—The spectacle was presented before the senate finance committee of a former lieutenant governor of the state of Wisconsin openly accusing the president of the United States of cowardice and a lack of patriotism.

John Strange, who is also a manufacturer of wrapping paper, was the witness who relieved himself of these sentiments. He was speaking in opposition to the Canadian reciprocity bill.

Strange said that the president had yielded to the demand of the publishers of the country and negotiated the treaty because he was so cowardly that he stood in fear of his re-election. He added that the time had come for President Taft to resign. According to Strange there is "no love of country" in the Canadian reciprocity bill. Also the spirit of '76 is lacking. "This bill was conceived in cowardice and bears no semblance of American patriotism," exclaimed Patriot Strange.

Strange's declarations pleased the delegation of farmers who were present and they frequently applauded. His remarks were not, however, well received by members of the committee. After his denunciation of Mr. Taft he was mildly chastised by Senator Smoot, an opponent of the treaty, and urged by Senator Penrose, chairman of the committee, thereafter to avoid personalities and confine his efforts to pointing out wherein the Canadian treaty would be harmful.

The senate finance committee listened for more than five hours to protests against the reciprocity bill. The Grangers attacked the measure vigorously, the Gloucester fishermen made a stab at it, and the manufacturers of paper declared that there was a gigantic conspiracy among the newspaper publishers to force Canadian reciprocity upon the country, in order to secure free print paper.

COLLEGE BOY ROBS CAFE

Starving Youth from Indianapolis Falls After Stealing Money.

San Francisco, May 11.—Driven to desperation by hunger, Thomas Bowers, a civil engineer, recently a student at Valparaiso college, Indiana, held up the keeper of a restaurant in the Italian quarter and forced him to turn over the contents of the cash register, $2.70.

As he ran out of the place he fell in a faint on the sidewalk. He had not had a mouthful of food, he told the police, for three days.

DEED OF CRAZY NEGRO

Murderously Assaults 17-Year-Old Boy in Indianapolis.

Lunatic's Wife Prevents Further Trouble—Man Believes He Is Killing Enemies.

Indianapolis, May 11.—A murderous assault was made by James Fee, a muscular and insane negro, on Oliver Rome, seventeen years old, of Cincinnati. Leaving his victim lying unconscious in the road, after stamping on him with both feet and striking him on the head with rocks, Fee obeyed a command from Albright Blue and leaped to one side of the road, where he fell on the grass, crying that he had killed one of his enemies, but more were coming.

Until the police automobile reached the place the neighborhood was in terror. The insane man's wife probably prevented additional assaults by the negro when she conducted him to a pasture and with both arms about his neck pleaded with him to wait awhile before killing more.

The boy was taken to the Blue farm, where physicians attended him. He is believed to be seriously injured internally. Several ribs were broken and the scalp lacerated. Fee was taken without trouble by bicycle men of the police and is now in a cell at Central police station.

MAY DAY PROGRAM BY NORMAL GIRLS A GRAND SUCCESS

Nearly 1100 people assembled Wednesday afternoon in the amphitheatre north of the residences of President Jones and T. C. Owen to witness the out-of-door May day program given by Mrs. Burton's gymnasium classes. It is very interesting that in so easily accessible a spot there should be so perfect a theatre for out-of-door spectacles, but it was after long exploring that Mrs. Burton discovered this location. The students, in number about three hundred, in their white gowns made themselves a pleasing sight, but the green hill-sides covered with groups of spectators on the grass, in carriages and in automobiles added of themselves another element to the picturesqueness. The scene was admirably staged by nature—a large rectangle afforded a level floor, the brook running along the north line looked like a stage aperturage, and two particularly shapely elms stood like vases in the background.

Music accompanied all the exercises with very interesting effect. The piano sounding through such reaches of space gave the impression of a new strange instrument much more than did the other instruments. One of the most delightful of the dances given was that in which each young lady carried a basket of flowers attached to a wand wound with green. In another, mammoth hoops wreathed with green vines and pink flowers were manipulated charmingly. In still another folk dance ropes of green filled the hands of the dancers and swayed with the graceful motions of their figures. The hearty, jolly dances seemed very appropriate in this rustic setting, while those characterized by the lighter playful moods were instilled with a glancing grace like nymphs in a picture.

One of the loveliest features of the afternoon was the May pole dance at the end. There were four poles with pink and white ribbons and it was an extremely lovely thing to see the girls in their dancing approach to these poles, the curtesies which began the dance and the graceful winding back and forth of the figures. It was a very satisfactory conclusion indeed to an entertainment which had been to the last degree unusual and beautiful.

MAY FESTIVAL OPENS WITH A GRAND CONCERT

The usual display of enthusiasm and a well filled hall featured the opening of the May Festival at Ann Arbor Wednesday evening. The program comprised four beautiful selections by the orchestra: "Carnival," Opus 45, Glazounow; Symphony No. 2, B. Minor, Borodin; Symphonic Poems, (My Fatherland), Smetana; Scherzo Capriccioso, Opus 66, Dvorak. These were rendered in several parts and were exceedingly beautiful.

Two selections, "Eri Tu" from "Un Ballo in Maschera" by Verdi and "Blick ich Umher" from "Tannhauser" by Wagner, rendered by Mr. Clarence E. Whitehill, baritone, in his renowned manner featured the program.

The second concert of the festival will commence this evening at 8 o'clock. Special cars leave Ypsilanti at 7:15 and return from Williams street in Ann Arbor after the entertainment.

TRAIN BANDITS MURDER THREE

Daring Hold-Up on the Denver and Rio Grande.

TRAIN FLAGGED ON A GRADE

Two Passengers and One of the Train Crew Shot Down by the Desperadoes—Amount of Booty Secured Not Known.

Denver, Colo., May 11.—Three persons, two of them passengers and the other a member of the train crew, were killed by robbers who held up a Denver and Rio Grande express near Salida.

The robbery appears to have been one of the boldest that ever occurred in this state. The bandits escaped. The point where the train was held up is in a wild region, and considerable distance from a telegraph office. Officials of the railway here are awaiting full details before making a statement.

According to reports so far received, the robbers flagged the train with a red lantern as it was making a steep grade at a slow rate of speed.

There were three of the bandits, it is said, and while one of them was told off to guard at pistol point the engine crew the others went back to go through the express and passenger cars.

On the way the two robbers met members of the train crew who had started towards the engine to ascertain the cause of the stop. The robbers covered the railroad men and ordered them to march back to the express car.

A nervous passenger attempted to escape from the car he was riding in and the robbers began shooting at him. In the panic that followed the three men were killed. Passengers ran in every direction when the firing commenced.

It is not known how much money the bandits got. Posses were formed to go in search of the desperadoes.

STUDENTS AT NORMAL HOLD ARBOR DAY EXERCISES

SHOW CONDITIONS OF CITY TREES—CONDEMN USE OF BIRDS ON HATS.

A large and interested company of students, faculty members and townspeople gathered for the Arbor Day exercises at the Normal.

The first of the exercises were held on the campus in front of the Science building and were opened by the reading of the "Governor's Proclamation for Arbor Day Observance" by Mr. Fitzgerald. The purpose of the proclamation was to arouse the interest of the people in not only the planting of trees and shrubs but also in birds and their economic importance.

Miss Goddard gave a few introductory remarks explaining that the trees, shrubs and vines about to be planted were the gifts of the various science classes.

The physiology and field botany classes had chosen to plant shrubs about the sun dial. Miss Hubbard gave an interesting paper on "Significance of Shrubbery about the Sun Dial."

The fourth grade of the Training school under Miss Gilpin's direction, sang very sweetly a song entitled "Robert O'Lincoln." Carl Pittenger in his talk on "The History and Use of the Sundial" related many interesting facts. He said the sundial was used by the Chaldeans and was changed somewhat by the Arabians in the thirteenth century. In the seventeenth century it was made use of by astronomers while today it is somewhat of a curiosity, little practical use being made of it.

The company then moved on to the little stream west of the Science building where the exercises were concluded. The fifth grade of the Training school sang a charming little bird song as an introduction to the planting of a bird cherry tree by the zoology students. Miss Theresa Anderson in connection with the planting, spoke very earnestly on "Birds and State." She showed very clearly what a great service the birds render a state. "We little realize their value," she said, "they eat seeds of noxious weeds, eat harmful insects and act as scavengers, etc." From statistics obtained in the state of Nebraska it was shown that 5,000,000 birds in the state averaged 25 insects per day for food, every day of the 150 days of the bird season, this making a total of 2,343,750 bushels of insects destroyed by them in a single season.

Miss McLain, a representative of the botany classes, gave a very forceful talk on "The Trees of Ypsilanti." She spoke of the beauty of our trees and their attractiveness which gives Ypsilanti the name "Forest City." She also compared the campus with that of the Michigan Agricultural College upon which every shrub and tree which can live in this climate is found growing. The beauty of the campus would be greatly enhanced she said if we had a greater variety of trees and shrubs. She spoke feelingly of the condition of trees in our city, the lives of many of them being seriously threatened through ill-treatment.

O. the 126 trees on Congress street between Adams and Summit, only 25% are sound, the others having been injured or having been improperly trimmed. The trees on Brower street have been especially ill-treated, many having been injured by nails, by careless cuts and by improper trimming and trees on other streets are in a similar condition. She closed with a plea begging all to think of the trees as living things and not to delay the care which they so much need.

The advanced nature study class chose birches as their contribution because of the fact that the use of the birch by primitive man is significant in the development of our children. While the birches were being planted Miss Helen Ellefson gave an interesting history of the birch tree, its including habitat and its uses to primitive and modern man. Miss Adeline Hoose read a charming little original poem on "The Birch Tree" after which Joy Wigle sang an appropriate song, "In Picardie."

One of the features of the afternoon was an original story by Miss Nel Sanford in which she accounted for the origin of the birch tree. The story was told in a pleasing manner and aroused much interest. Miss Miriam Collins read Lowell's beautiful poem, "The Birch Tree."

The physical science students classes and one of the nature study classes felt that they wanted to see the science building and Starkweather hall made beautiful with vines and their contribution was Boston ivy. Miss Babbitt concluded the program with a pretty little story of the long-livvy of the ivy to prove that it will be as lasting as the trees planted.

Miss Goddard then extended an invitation to all to see the exhibits in the west side of the science building. The rooms on the first and second floors, the halls and stairways were profusely decorated with a large va-

WILLIS MAN SECOND VICTIM BAD CROSSING

Another tragic death has occurred at the railway crossing near Willis, and this victim of this deplorable accident was David Mason, a prominent farmer in that vicinity. This morning Mr. Mason went to the creamery to carry his milk as usual and his wife, having an errand to do in that locality, accompanied him. Having completed his business at the creamery, Mr. Mason started back for his wife. Train No. 12, east bound was due, but its approach Mr. Mason could not see, as the road crossed the railroad at so peculiar an angle and the buildings are grouped in such a way as to completely cut off all view of a coming train.

The train struck Mr. Mason just as he had driven squarely onto the track and killed him instantly. The wagon was smashed into pieces, but in some way the horse was loosed from the wagon and escaped uninjured.

Not very long ago David Russell of Willis was killed at the same spot and Mr. Mason had often been heard to remark on this circumstance.

Mr. Mason was born sixty-three years ago in Sand Lake, New York, and on the death of his father, he removed with his mother to Michigan and lived near Canton. When about twenty-one, Mr. Mason moved to Pontiac, but returned when he was married and for thirty-five years has lived in this neighborhood.

He is survived by a wife and two sons, Mark Mason, who lives southeast of Willis and, Forbes Mason, whose home is near Willis, east of the Quaker school.

The body was held for inquest at the railroad depot and the date of the funeral will be determined later.

THE ENCAMPMENT FLAG PRESENTATION

Mr. Barney came Wednesday to otic instructor of the G. A. R. is in Ypsilanti today the guest of Rep. H. C. Rankin.

Mr. Barney came Wednesday to talk with the committee of W. R. C. and Supt. Arbaugh relative to one of the big meetings, Wednesday evening, June 21, upon which occasion the W. R. C. of Michigan in accordance with their custom will present a beautiful silk flag to the public school where the encampment is held.

The state patriotic instructor of the W. R. C., Cora V. Perham, of Ionia, makes the presentation speech. The exercises that evening are formal, interesting and appropriate to the occasion.

Col. Barney as the G. A. R. post in the program delivers his intensely thrilling and pathetic address "From Chattanooga to the Sea with Sherman as I saw it."

The school chorus, 125 in number, present two patriotic cantatas.

These exercises Wednesday evening will likely be held in the M. E. church as being the largest auditorium in the city and one of the most available, the Masonic Temple, being used as headquarters for the Grand Army, the general assembly room for all visitors day and night.

That same evening the encampment committee are making arrangements or a big meeting for adults in the Normal auditorium. Prof. Alexander expects to hold a concert largely for the visiting ladies.

The biggest doings Ypsilanti ever knew or perhaps ever will be in line or encampment week.

dety of fruiting branches of trees and shrubs.

The nature study exhibit included some interesting Indian articles which were procured through the kindness of Miss Nettie Purdy from the administrator of the estate of the late Chief Pokagon and a birch bark display which was prepared by children of the Training school. The Indian exhibit included baskets, books, boxes, anoes, an Indian head-dress and the not of birch bark with which the Indian maiden seals her marriage vow.

Miss Phelps's students exhibited both winter and summer homes of birds, bird shelves and groups of birds. Devices were exhibited for preventing rats from reaching nests and a beautiful cat with a bell on his neck illustrated one method of warning the birds that their enemy is near. Another feature was the "millinery parlor" where hats with proper and improper trimming were exhibited. The aigrette which is often used on hats means the death of a mother heron and her babies, the mother being killed while returning to her brood and the motherless babies dying of starvation. The use of feathers with Kelly was a pupil of Glenn H. Curtiss in aviation and came to Texas about three weeks ago from San Diego, Cal., where he received his first lessons. It is believed the accident was caused by the unexpected starting of the engine while Kelly was making a landing.

EXPECT PEACE TO COME SOON

Navarro's Surrender Seems to Clear Situation.

DIAZ RESIGNATION TO FOLLOW

General Rabago Is Marching in Haste Toward Juarez, but It Is Not Settled that Any Attempt to Retake Town Will be Made.

Mexico City, May 11.—While the foreign office refused to make a statement regarding the fall of Juarez, it is considered here by well-informed persons and it seems the general opinion of the public that Navarro's surrender clears the situation and peace is bound to follow at once.

As the rebels make a condition of peace the resignation of Diaz it follows that this will be announced shortly.

The minister of war was interviewed regarding the report that the government would attempt to retake Juarez. He stated that General Rabago is marching in haste from Chihuahua and other troops have been ordered there, but he was unwilling to state if any attack would be made.

Nothing definite has been learned concerning expected peace in the state of Guerrero, but reports that Figueroa is about to attack Cuernavaca and later march toward Mexico City, are officially denied. It is known that the rebels who control Guerrero are not making further efforts. The trains are running to Cuernavaca, but no further toward Iguala, as the bridges are down near Calanones.

Last reports from other points in the republic indicate that the rebels are extremely active. It is feared that Durango, Torreon, Tuxpan and other important cities, if not already occupied by the rebels, are in imminent danger. A report from Saltillo, the capital of the state of Coahuila, stated that the town is surrounded by rebels, who are attacking furiously. As the rebels outnumber the garrison of the town five to one, surrender is expected. Saltillo is on the line of the National railroad in Laredo.

Trouble in Resuming.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 11.—Under the leadership of John Early, a noted Chicago strike-breaker, squads of workmen are arriving in this city daily, having been sent here with a view of gradually opening up the furniture industry that is now idle because of the strike. The first factory to attempt the move is the Grand Rapids Piano Case company. About sixty men are now at work there and trouble is feared if more importations occur. A roll call of the strikers shows that 312 of them have left the city for other towns to accept employment. The feature of the strike is the refusal of local hotels to grant accommodations to imported men, the landlords fearing a demonstration.

Threw Puppy in Face.

Hammond, Ind., May 11.—Henry Dorsey of Gary, who killed John Brown because the latter's little girl threw a puppy in his face as he passed in the street and who was sentenced to life imprisonment for manslaughter, may escape on a technicality.

When the court clerk wrote the judgment he added to the sentence "And disfranchised for ten years." This was no part of the jury's verdict and the courts have ruled that an error of this sort invalidates the judgment.

MAINTAIN AND IMPROVE THIS "DETROIT"

The Detroit papers are just announcing that the Wolverine Automobile club, Detroit's hustling organization of motorists will conduct, June 22-28, an event destined to go into history as the first annual "Affiliation Tour."

"The run will start from Detroit and pursue a generally circular itinerary, through Toledo, Cleveland, Buffalo, Toronto and London, stops for the night being scheduled for each of the cities mentioned, with an additional day in Buffalo to permit of sight-seeing at Niagara Falls. The best roads within reaching distance of Detroit are included in the run, the bad stretch between Detroit and Toledo being avoided by a detour through Ypsilanti, Adrian and Waukegan, O."

We quote thus from this item to re-impress upon the people of Ypsilanti and Washtenaw county the importance of maintaining and improving the roads indicated in this detour as a business proposition. The great automobile industry is filling the country with millions of dollars of investment in motor cars, and the advertising value attached by a good highway to the section which it traverses is difficult to overestimate.

Let us see to it by getting busy now in both individual and organized effort that the commissioners having in charge the repair and construction of our highways improve them immediately and keep them improved. Ypsilanti is at a focal point. This is an illustration of it. We have both of the traveled highways to Chicago and to the most populous section of the Lower Peninsula.

We ought to give attention to the old Indian trail from Ypsilanti towards Saline and see that the roads are as good during that half of the distance between Ypsilanti and Saline as they now are in the half next to Saline, and we are pleased to note that the thrifty, enterprising people about Saline have made the roads equally good on this old Indian road towards Tecumseh clear across to the Lenawee county line, and we believe the characteristic enterprise of the people of Lenawee county are seeing to it that, beginning at the Washtenaw county line this same old Indian trail will be kept just as good for the rest of the distance to Tecumseh and thence on to Adrian.

Cooperating effort all along the line will produce immediate and permanent results and we are tempted to drop this suggestion at this point too; that it would be well for Ypsilanti if she would bestir herself and continue this great historic highway through our city as "Michigan avenue" the same as it appears in Detroit and really all the way to our city and is so regarded in the other cities through which it passes between here and Chicago and is so named in Chicago itself.

ROOT GROWING FOR THE MAN WITH A SMALL FARM.

By R. S. SHAW,
DEAN OF THE MICHIGAN
AGRICULTURAL COL-LEGE.

THERE are but few tillable areas in the United States where some one or more of the various kinds of root crops cannot be grown. And there are few men engaged in mixed farming on a small scale but what could use them to good advantage. But, generally speaking, when the word roots is mentioned the imagination presents to the mind's eye a ten-acre field suggestive of prolonged backache. We do not suggest the growing of large areas of roots, considering the way in which we propose to use them, but rather from one to three acres for the size of farm under consideration. This small area, if suitable and properly handled, can be made to produce a large tonnage. The average yield for the several root crops computed from six consecutive years' trials, by Zavitz of Ontario, resulted in the following tonnage per acre, viz: Carrots, 28 tons per acre; mangolds, 24; turnips, 23; rutabagas, 20, and sugar beets, 17 tons. The area of roots, mostly mangolds, grown annually at the Michigan Agricultural college, does not exceed three acres, and yet is sufficient to produce the moderate amount needed for our cattle, sheep and hogs during the winter season. The land devoted to roots should be located within reasonable distance of the farm buildings, if possible; in general a deep, rich loam soil is desirable, and liberal supplies of barnyard manure will always produce a marked response in the crop.

In harvesting turnips and rutabagas they can be topped with a sharp hoe while still in the ground, and the roots tipped out of the ground with a plov. In harvesting the short, thick-bodied mangold, such as Golden Tankard, we uproot them by dragging an inverted harrow both ways across the piece, and the tops are twisted off by hand when picked up for loading. The extremely long varieties cannot be harvested in this way without more or less of them being broken; they are much heavier yielders than the short, thick-shaped kinds, but are not as good keepers or feeders.

For stock purposes we top both carrots and sugar beets with the hoe, and in the absence of a beet lifter, remove them with a plov by cutting so close to the row as to leave one side of the roots exposed. The carrot is difficult to raise, requiring so much tedious hand labor. We grow but a few rows of these for horse feed.

The secret of success in storing roots consists in keeping them in the lowest possible temperature without freezing.

PREPARATION FOR, AND PLANTING BEANS.

By W. F. RAVEN, EXTENSION LECTURER OF
MICHIGAN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

AMONG the crops of Michigan the bean crop occupies an important place, and the state occupies first place among the bean producing states of the Union. Owing to the high prices and favorable seasons there has been a still greater demand for information concerning the ordinary cultural methods employed in growing the field bean under Michigan conditions.

Beans should be grown in the regular rotation of farm crops, and preferably on over-turned clover sod. The following is a good three-year rotation: First year, beans, corn or potatoes; second, grain seeded to clover, and third, clover. While this rotation is well-suited to Michigan conditions, it can, of course, be varied to meet special requirements. The smaller varieties of beans mature most quickly thus giving opportunity for the preparation for wheat or rye to follow.

While clay loams are most desirable, sandy or even gravelly loams may be used.

It is essential that the ploughing be done early in the spring, but, owing to the lateness of the dates of seeding, this is frequently neglected till the latter part of May, much to the detriment of the crop. After ploughing, the land should receive frequent cultivation to bring it to the best possible condition of tilth.

In growing beans on light, sandy soils or others lacking in fertility, it will be found profitable to top-dress with fine or well-rotted stable manure after plowing. Follow this application by the disk harrow in order to inter-mix the materials with the surface soil.

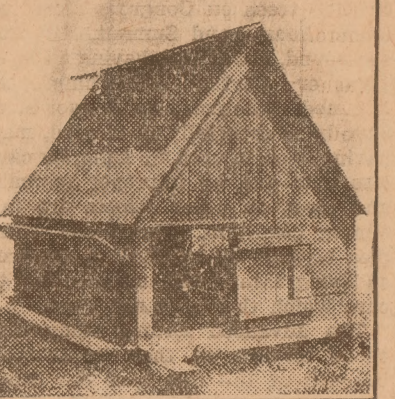

None but the best cleaned seed should be used for planting, as the success of the crop is quite largely dependent on its vitality. From 20 to 26 quarts of seed per acre of the smaller varieties of beans is sufficient. The larger varieties require one bushel to the acre.

The best machine for planting beans is the ordinary eleven-hoe grain drill. Stop up all the tubes except the second, sixth and tenth, and let the drill wheel follow in its own outer wheel mark, instead of in the last mark as in sowing grain.

HOG COTS.

By R. S. SHAW,
DEAN OF THE MICHIGAN
AGRICULTURAL COL-LEGE.

CLIMATIC conditions of Michigan are too extreme to permit of the use of hog cots for all classes of pigs for all purposes during the entire year, but for the summer season the system of coting and yarding cannot be excelled. Cots are especially desirable for dry brood sows and young males and females being reared for breeding purposes. They are desirable because an abundance of fresh air, sunshine and exercise are provided.

Pig Cot Used at M. A. C.

The illustration represents a form of cot recently designed and constructed and now in use in the hog lots at the Michigan Agricultural college. It is 6x8 feet at the foundation, with the sides raised perpendicularly three feet before receiving the half pitch roof boards. The center boards on the sides are hinged so that they can be swung open in hot weather; the opening thus made is covered with a strong woven wire, clamped above and below between iron boards; the inner clamp boards project an inch beyond the outer ones, thus breaking the joints and preventing any drafts when the openings are closed. The two ridge boards are also hinged so that they can be opened during very hot weather. These openings permit a free circulation of air, thus lowering the temperature and greatly reducing the oppression of the pigs seeking shelter. These opening close down tightly, making warm quarters during the coldest weather. Probably the chief objection to this form of cot is its expense.

Every active young people's society in the state is planning to send a delegation to the Detroit convention, and the Detroit Endeavorers are planning a number of unique features to give their visitors the best possible time while they are in the city. The first of these, an automobile ride around the city, touching all the points of real interest to tourists, is characteristic of the city. Another important feature is a trip on one of the magnificent new steamers along the beautiful Detroit river.

What promises to be the most important among the special features is the fact that all registered and qualified delegates will receive free entertainment (lodging and breakfast) during the convention.

Every member of a Christian Endeavor Society, Epworth League, Baptist Young People's Union, Episcopal Guild or Auxiliary, or any other young people's organization in the state who expects to attend the convention may obtain free entertainment by applying to Miss Mary R. Phinney, 107 Collingwood avenue, Detroit, for delegate's credentials. These credentials, properly signed by the president and secretary of the delegate's society, must be presented to the committee upon arrival in Detroit.

D. W. Rogers of Jackson, a former resident of this city, will return home Friday after spending the past few days with old friends here.

INVASION OF DETROIT

Michigan Endeavorers Will Have Great Convention.

PROMINENT MEN WILL ATTEND

Many Planning to Go to Detroit and Atlantic City Conventions During Summer Vacations—State Convention Promises to Be of Unusual Interest.

IMPORTANT DATES.

State Convention—Detroit, June 22-25.
International Convention—Atlantic City, July 6-12.

About 1,500 young people throughout Michigan are making preparations to attend the Twenty-second Annual Michigan Christian Endeavor Convention, which will be held in Detroit, June 22-25th. This convention will be one of the most helpful and enjoyable gatherings ever held by Michigan Endeavorers. While in past years these conventions have been almost exclusively for Endeavor societies, this year all limitations have been cast aside, and practically every Christian Young People's organization of note will participate. This insures an attendance larger than at any state convention yet attempted.

The motto of the convention is "Forward," and neither time nor money is being spared to make this a real forward step in young people's work. Not only will this be the largest gathering of young people's organizations held in the state, but the program will be second to none in the country. At every session will be some of the country's best and most prominent speakers.

Dr. Francis E. Clark, more commonly known among members of Christian Endeavor societies as Father Endeavorer Clark, the founder of the Christian Endeavor movement, will be one of the principal speakers. Father

REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK.

Clark has not visited Michigan Endeavorers in a number of years, but his interest in the local work is as keen as ever. This will be one of the last times that he will attend a state convention here, as he is planning to discontinue attending conventions all over the country, and devote his time to less strenuous work.

Father Clark will go from Detroit to the great International Convention at Atlantic City, N. J., July 6-12th. A number of young people who will attend the Detroit convention are planning to extend their vacation to be able to accompany Dr. Clark to the other convention. A splendid trip is assured all those who will make the trip from Detroit to Atlantic City. Special rates have been secured from all points in Michigan to Detroit, and a special rate of $23.50 has been arranged for the trip from Detroit to Atlantic City and return, allowing for stop-overs at Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, the national capital, and New York, with a possible side trip to the historic battlefield of Gettysburg.

CHURCHES JOIN IN CONVENTION

Problems of Church Unity May Be Solved by Young People.

WILL DISREGARD DIFFERENCES

Greatest Young People's Convention Ever Held in Michigan Will Open Thursday, June 22—Hundreds of Young People From Every Part of State Planning to Attend.

FEATURES OF UNITY.

The Episcopalian cathedral will be one of the convention churches. Dean Marquis of the cathedral will speak twice. Prominent Methodists and Baptists are on the program. The hearty co-operation among all denominations in Detroit fosters spirit of unity.

Never in the history of Young People's conventions in Michigan has there been one quite so unique as the one to be held in Detroit, June 22-25. Besides the many other striking features the one that commands our attention immediately in this day of "Church Unity" discussion is the extremely interdenominational basis of the convention. The Detroit convention committee is made up of men and women representing most prominent denominations in young people's work. One of the convention churches is the Episcopalian St. Paul's cathedral. The speakers chosen are among the most prominent men of the same communions. All of the plans are made with the definite purpose that young people will attend the convention irrespective of denomination, but with the one determination to do the most good and to get the most good possible.

And why should it not be so? Why should we older people try to reproduce in our children sectarian differences which, though they were vital to us and our forefathers, have become meaningless today? Why not encourage our young people to be Christians first and then to be Methodists, Pres-

Sanitary Plumbing is the First Requisite to a Healthy Home

It does not matter who your plumber may be, if the work he does for you is not sanitary, it is worthless—it isn't worthy. If you let Waterman do your work, you need not worry that it will not be done properly. Only Sanitary and Satisfactory Plumbing is done by my men. Every one is thoroughly experienced in every phase of plumbing, and gives you the very best service possible.

My Prices Are Always the Lowest

the case with many plumbers—but not with me. I do the very highest class of work, and charge less for it than most plumbers

Observe Pastor's Birthday.

The meeting which the Ladies society of the German Lutheran church held Wednesday evening in the church house had a very surprising termination. At the conclusion of the business one of the ladies informed the pastor, Rev. Henry E. Luetjen, that someone wished to see him in the north room of the church house. He went unsuspectingly in and there a great cake topped with candles announced the fact that his parishioners were fully aware that May 10 was his birthday. After ice cream and cake had been enjoyed by the company, Guy Bedell played several trombone solos. Earlier in the day Mr. Luetjen had received about fifty postcards containing birthday greetings, and in great part they had come from the young people of the church.

Mrs. A. Allmendinger. A delicious supper was served. The decorations were green and white. All reported a very enjoyable time.

liam Calkins had arranged as to issuing invitations, and the lunch of coffee and fried cakes and the punch served during the evening. The fifty people present enjoyed a dance, with violin and banjo for music.

exception of the ostrich and those of the barn-yard fowl should be given up.

In the botany rooms were displays of tree flowers and plants. On the blackboards of the various rooms were sketches made by Leonard D'Ooge, Miss Langton and Miss Gorton of trees as seen on different streets showing correct and incorrect trimming and also the way in which some trees are rotting. A germinacorn was displayed, also samples of bud, root and stem grafting. Through the courtesy of botany students all visitors were presented with bou-
